SOCIAL MODEL RECOVERY BIBLIOGRAPHY

(1998) Contemporary Drug Problems, 25(4)

Borkman, T. J. (1998). Resident self-governance in social model recovery programs. Contemporary Drug Problems, 25(4), p. 741 – 753.

Crawford, S. (1998). Experiential authority in a social model organization. Contemporary Drug Problems, 25(4), p. 807 – 829.

Kaskutas, L.A., Piroth, K. V. & Karp, R. C. (1998). A "day in the life" of residents and staff at one medical model and two social model substance abuse treatment and recovery programs. Contemporary Drug Problems, 25(4), p. 665 – 710.

Kohn, A., & Bryan, K. (1998). Ritual practice in a social model recovery program. Contemporary Drug Problems, 25(4), p. 711 – 722.

Room, J. (1998). Qualitative research on the social model approach. Contemporary Drug Problems, 25(4), p. 643 – 645.

Room, J. (1998). No big shots or little shots here: Staffing principles and roles at medical and social model substance abuse treatment facilities. Contemporary Drug Problems, 25(4), p. 773 – 806.

Room, J., Kaskutas, L. A., & Piroth, K. V. (1998). Brief overview of the social model approach. Contemporary Drug Problems, 25(4), p. 649 – 663.

(1998) Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment, 15(1)

Barrows, D. (1998). The Community Orientation of Social Model and Medical Model Recovery Programs. Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment, 15(1), p. 55 – 64.

Borkman, T. J. (1998). Is Recovery Planning Any Different from Treatment Planning? Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment, 15(1), p. 37 – 42.

Borkman, T., Kaskutas, L. A., Room, J., Bryan, K. & Barrows, D. (1998). An Historical and Developmental Analysis of Social Model Programs. Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment 15(1), p. 7 – 17.

Kaskutas, L. A. (1998). Methodology and Characteristics of Programs and Clients in the Social Model Process Evaluation. Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment, 15(1), p. 19 – 25.

Kaskutas, L. A., Greenfield, T. K., Borkman, T. J., & Room, J. A. (1998). Measuring Treatment Philosophy: A Scale for Substance Abuse Recovery Programs. Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment, 15(1), p. 27 – 36.

Kaskutas, L. A., Marsh, D., & Kohn, A. (1998). Didactic and Experiential Education in Substance Abuse Programs. Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment, 15(1), p. 43 – 53.

Other Articles

Kaskutas, L. A., Keller, J. W., & Witbrodt, J. (1999). Measuring social model in California: how much as changed? Contemporary Drug Problems, 26(4), p. 607 – 631.

Polcin, D. L. (2001). Drug and Alcohol Offenders Coerced into Treatment: A Review of Modalities and Suggestions for Research on Social Model Programs. Substance Use and Misuse, 36(5), p. 589 – 608.

Polcin, D. L., Prindle, S. D., & Bostrom, A. (2002). Integrating Social Model Principles into Broad-Based Treatment: Results of a Program Evaluation. The American Journal of Drug and Alcohol Abuse, 28(4), p. 585 – 599.